Call for papers

Asian Pacific Journal of Reproduction is a peer-reviewed, open-access academic journal indexed in Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), Scopus, DOAJ, OAJI, Google Scholar, etc. The Journal will receive its first Impact Factor (IF) in June 2024.

We encourage researchers and scientists working in the areas of reproduction and related fields to submit original researches, perspective and reviews on topics in the basic, transitional and clinical science of reproduction. Studies in humans and animal are considered.

Topics include but are not limited to the following:

- Reproductive physiology and pathology
- Reproductive endocrinology
- Andrology
- Gametogenesis
- Embryo development
- Reproductive genetics
- Assisted reproductive technology
- Infertility treatment, psychology and counselling

The Journal would also like to publish thematic issues. We welcome scientists to serve as a guest editor and propose a thematic issue.

All manuscripts are reviewed by qualified reviewers. Decisions will be made as rapidly as possible, and the Journal strives to return reviewers’ comments to authors within 4-5 weeks. All accepted articles will be published online immediately after proof reading and formatting process.

Papers could be submitted via online submission: https://review.jow.medknow.com/apjr.

Regards,

Journal homepage: http://www.apjr.net/

E-mail: apjr2012@163.com

Phone: 086-0898-6689-0465