

Call for Editor-in-Chief Candidates: Journal of Glaucoma

The Journal of Glaucoma is a monthly peer-reviewed journal addressing the spectrum of issues affecting definition, diagnosis, and management of glaucoma and providing a forum for lively and stimulating discussion of clinical, scientific, and socioeconomic factors affecting care of glaucoma patients. Each issue presents original articles on new approaches to diagnosis, innovations in pharmacological therapy and surgical technique, and basic science advances that impact on clinical practice.

"This is an unusually well-conceived title, which . . . should be welcomed by generalists and specialists alike."

Job Description

The Editor-in-Chief's responsibilities include developing the journal's content on an ongoing basis; soliciting, processing and editing submissions in a timely manner; working with and further developing the Editorial Board; and collaborating with the Publisher to increase the journal's visibility, author submissions, and readership. This includes:

- Appointing editorial board members and reviewers.
- Promote diversity and inclusion when selecting Associate Editors and Editorial Board Members.
- Establishing editorial guidelines for journal contributions.
- Liaise with the World Glaucoma Association leadership and provide periodic updates.
- Encouraging manuscript submissions and overseeing the review process.
- Submitting accepted manuscripts to the Publisher on schedule to ensure timely publication of each issue.
- Meet timeline for accepted article submissions and page proofs, based upon publisher-determined issue publication dates.
- Act as liaison between Managing Editor and authors on matters including, but not limited to, manuscript length, obtaining copyright permissions for figures, and duplicated material.
- Reviewing article proofs and creating issue tables of contents.
- Identify cover art from figures within each issue.
- Communicate concerns with authors, reviewers, or readers to Senior Publisher; work with publishing staff to mitigate concerns.
- Work with publisher to create strategies for increased dissemination of journal content.

The ideal candidate will have a broad knowledge of the discipline, publication history, editorial experience, time management and organizational skills, and familiarity with the publishing process.

Interviews for finalists will be held at the ARVO conference in May 2020. The Editor-in-Chief's appointment is for a 3 to 5-year term, beginning January 2021.
