Home Healthcare Now is a refereed, interprofessional journal published 6 times a year. The purpose of Home Healthcare Now is to bring timely and practical articles to home care and hospice providers in all disciplines engaged with home healthcare.

Topics include practice-oriented clinical focus matters, original research, literature reviews, manuscripts that describe quality improvement projects, innovations or new approaches to patient care, and case studies.

Topics of Interest:

- Care of PICC lines
- Identifying abuse (not only physical; especially elder)
- Updates on cardiac and diabetes drugs
- Social determinants of health
- Equity, inclusion and diversity
- Ostomy care
- Wound care
- Implicit bias
- Telehealth
- Urinary catheter care

Manuscripts should be original work and follow the guidelines of the most recent edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA).

Query letters are welcome but not required. Email the editor at HHNEditor@gmail.com.

For complete author instructions and to submit your manuscript, visit editorialmanager.com/nhh.