

JOURNAL OF ORTHOPAEDICS FOR PHYSICIAN ASSISTANTS

2019 JOPA WRITING AWARDS

The JBJS Journal of Orthopaedics for Physician Assistants (JBJS JOPA), published by The Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery (JBJS), is a peer-reviewed publication that covers all orthopaedic subspecialties for PAs and NPs. As one of the most highly respected journals in the field of orthopaedics, JBJS is committed to supporting the educational and research needs of health-care practitioners everywhere. To continue this tradition, JOPA is offering:

TWO $1000 AWARDS FOR:

- Best review article or case study by certified, practicing PAs or NPs.

TWO $500 AWARDS FOR:

- Best review article or case study by authors who are PA students at time of article submission. Students are strongly encouraged to partner with their supervising orthopaedic PA, MD, or DO in writing their article for submission.

WHAT WE ARE LOOKING FOR:

Academic reviews of literature on broad orthopaedic topics AND concise overviews of single clinical conditions, diagnostic/therapeutic/surgical procedures, or any other topic related to orthopaedics.

HOW TO ENTER:

Submit your article via the JBJS JOPA Editorial Manager submission site

(www.editorialmanager.com/jopajbjs). Corresponding authors will be asked whether they wish their articles to be considered for the awards. Make sure to adhere to the requirements for review articles as outlined in the JOPA Instructions for Authors at <http://journals.lww.com/jbjsjopa/Pages/For-Authors.aspx>.

Questions regarding the contest and submission process can be sent to jopaeditorial@jbjs.org.
