“Quality as a Business Strategy”

The Journal for Healthcare Quality (JHQ) is seeking high-quality original research, quality improvement, and systematic review manuscripts for the 2020 special issue, which will focus on Quality as a Business Strategy.

JHQ is seeking manuscripts that focus on quality as a business strategy across the healthcare continuum. Welcome are theoretical, systematic reviews, quality improvement, and rigorous research manuscripts. Of particular interest are manuscripts in which healthcare leaders articulate how initiatives translate into operating margins and growth for their institutions. At an industry level, desired are research manuscripts that demonstrate a relationship between an investment in quality and associated improvement in outcomes.

Dr. Cathy Duquette, Executive Vice President, Nursing Affairs and Dr. Nidia Williams, Vice President, Operational Excellence both of Lifespan in Providence, Rhode Island will serve as co-guest editors for this special issue. Inquiries about the special issue can be made either to Dr. Duquette at cduquette@lifespan.org or Dr. Williams at nwilliams4@lifespan.org

Dr. Duquette

Manuscript submissions for the special issue are due by June 1, 2019. Please follow our author guidelines and submit manuscripts electronically through the JHQ Editorial Manager system at <http://www.editorialmanager.com/JHQ> and select the category “Special Topics Series.” Please include a cover letter stating that you would like the manuscript considered for the special issue on “Quality as a Business Strategy.”
