OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion, the participant should be able to:

- Discuss guidelines for termination of resuscitation in traumatic arrest
- Review pelvic fracture treatment options
- Appreciate the value of Damage Control Spinal Surgery in the setting of (poly-) trauma
- Identify physiologic changes in pregnancy
- Improve understanding of how to better evaluate the critically injured to rapidly diagnose the problem
- Understand social changes in trauma care
- Explain the epidemiology and pathophysiology of bomb/blast injuries
- Describe the management of the pediatric trauma patient with catastrophic injury
- Discuss current mechanical solutions for the control of hemorrhage in the pre-hospital environment
- Describe what to do with a hemodynamically unstable patient with blunt splenic trauma
- Orient and educate families after neurotrauma

Current guidelines state that the participants in CME activities should be made aware of any affiliation or financial interest that may affect the speaker's presentation(s). Each speaker has been requested to complete a conflict of interest statement. The names of faculty members, planning committee members and their disclosure of any conflicts of interest will be indicated in the participant syllabus.

The conference planning committee reserves the right to make substitutions or changes in this schedule plan of events for circumstances beyond it's control without prior notice to the participants.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The 22nd Annual Surviving Trauma Conference is designed to provide up-to-date information for practicing surgeons, emergency physicians, anesthesiologists, and family practitioners, as well as other healthcare team members who provide care for trauma victims. Some of the nation's most experienced and recognized trauma faculty will present current topics of interest. The sessions will provide a forum for the exchange of knowledge and ideas on a variety of trauma topics.
